A new restaurant from Ten Five Hospitality is set to open on the ground floor of the Calvary Baptist Church's "miracle building" at 125 W. 57th Street.

The hospitality group, known for Mother Wolf in Los Angeles, signed a lease for 7,045 square feet to launch an entirely new concept.

It marks a major culinary addition to Midtown's upscale dining scene.

The restaurant joins Bonhams auction house on the ground level, further elevating the luxury profile of the tower.

This 30-story, $350 million development had stalled during the pandemic but is now fully back on track.

The building will also house Calvary Church and other tenants like medical device firm AdaptHealth.

Its location on Billionaires' Row puts it steps from iconic towers like One57 and 111 W. 57th.

Expect this new dining destination to draw in both locals and high-end visitors. An official opening date is still under wraps.
